RED ROSE COTILLION

16th ANNUAL RED ROSE COTILLION

Thirteen young ladeis will make their debute on Saturday evening, December 12th at the Bicentennial Pavillion.

Flowers and Ribbons with a touch of Red Roses will accent the ballroom. The girls have been busy choosing white gowns, going to parties and dinners, posing for pictures and weekly rchersals.

The escorts are busy choosing black tails, white gloves, accented with white canes Anthony McKinnon, choreographer has introduced two dances, one for the Debs, who will dance to the music of "One In A Million" . Another for the Debs and their escorts, a romantic dance to "Very Special."

The girls are seniors from the Tacoma/Lakewood area, who will make that final step into society.

The Red Rose Cotillion is sponsored by "The Unique Social and Community Club." The Uniques initiated its first Debutante Program in 1966 with the purpose of enriching the cultural development of recommended young women in Tacoma and the surrounding area.

This year the sixteenth anniversary of the deb presentation and ball will point with pride to the debs from previous Cotillions who have been formally presented to society.

These young ladies undergo several months of training in charm and center chiefly on the development of personality, social graces, spiritual, civic and social consciousness.

Anderson Number One

Betty Anderson, News Tribune staff writer was h onored by the Washington State School Directors Association for her outstanding writing abiity.

While Ms. Anderson was very happy about a recipient of the first place award, she chosed to offer constructive advise to others that are interested in the a career of journalism. She has been in the field for at least seven years and has learned a great deal.

One area Ms. Anderson focused was the ability to communicate with others effectively. She explained that often times people know how to talk to each other because they are in the same culture, share same problems, go to the same church or school, but when taken out of these surrounding, many become insecure. She says we must be open and able to effectively communicate with others whether its a friend or stranger.

She also emphsized the importance of reading. She says she reads every day. This helps her to keep up with whats going on. So daily habits must be developed especially if you intend to pursue a career in journalism. In order to build self confidence, self discipline must be exercised.

Aparently, her suggestions must work.

POT SMOKERS UNDERGO DEVASTATING PERSONALITY CHANGES

New evidence, factual and frightening, reveals that marijuana smokers can undergo devastating and irreversible personality changes--including permanent intoxication from as few as two joints a week. Gathering evidence for the first time from a number of eminent sources--physicians, neurologists, psychiatrists, psychologists and other experts--the Reader's Digest reports in the December issue that even in small quantities, pot has dramatically impairing effects on cells and...can damage man's most precious possessions: the mind, the personality, the spirit."

Psychiatrist-neurologist Robert Heath is one of the specialists consulted in the Reader's Digest report. In a recent Rhesus-monkey study he conducted, the monkeys were exposed to the smoke of three-fourths of a marijuana cigarette five days a week, for six months. Structural cell changes occurred in all the brain sites and particularly in the sites directly related to typical pot symptoms of apathy, emotional flatness, irritability and fear.

Dr. Harold Voth of the Menninger Foundation's School of Psychiatry, has studied the psychopathology of marijuana for the past eight years. He points out in the article that "It takes years of heavy drinking to reach the same point of psychological impairment that marijuana can induce in a matter of months, particularly in the case of the very young user."

Evidence of a growing awareness to a problem of epidemic proportions with dramatic implications can be seen in the response to previous marijuana articles. The Digest report, written by Peggy Mann, is the third of a series. Her first article dealth with pot-induced impairment of the brain and reproductive system. The second, with the drug's effect on the lungs, heart and immune system. Combined, they sold more reprints than any other articles in the sixty-year history of Reader's Digest.

Pot smokers start out as a diverse group, but Mann points out that when they become chronic users, they "tend to gel into a startling sameness, with a distinct pot-induced profile." The symptoms of this profile are alarmingly similar to senility. Chronic users of pot become psychologically, physiologically and socially disabled--depression, an unreasonable preoccupation with how one's body feels, obsessive-compulsive tendencies and inflexibility were similar symptoms found in a July 1981 study of teenage pot smokers and elderly, senile adults. The study was conducted by Dr. Mark Gold, director of research at Fair Oaks Hospital in Summit, N.J., one of the few psychiatric hospitals in the country that specializes in treatment of the marijuanaholic.

Dr. Mitchell Rosenthal, director of Phoenix House in New York City, the nation's largest residential drug-treatment facility, predicts: "A sizeable number of our young people will not mature as they should. Instead, we can look forward to a growing population of immature, underqualified adults, many of whom will be unable to live without economic, social or clinical support."

To Be Equal

Mr. Reagan's Credibility Gap

By Vernon E. Jordan,

Budget Director David Stockman landed himself in a world of trouble when a national magazine published taped interviews with him that featured embarrassing revelations.

Mr. Stockman's off-the-cuff remarks made in the heat of last spring and summer's budget battles confirm what the Administration's critics were saying about the economic recovery program's shortcomings.

The highly touted "supply side economics" turns out, in Mr. Stockman's private comments, to be nothing more than a fancy dress version of the old, descredited "trickle down economics" that said if you give more money to the rich it will trickle down to the poor.

That never happened before and it is not happening now. The whole supply-side flim-flam was a ruse to disguise the real intent of cutting the tax rates on the highest income brackets.

Meanwhile, the effective tax on poor people was raised through cuts in programs that transferred cash or cash equivalents such as welfare benefits and food stamps. That exposes the moral bankruptcy of a policy that pushes the poor against the wall while showering further benefits on the affluent.

During the debate over the tax bill the special interests had a field day, eventually winning additional concessions unopposed by the Administration. Now we learn that many of those who wrapped themselves in the flag and pleaded the need for "incentives to save and invest" were actually acting out of pure greed.

"Do you realize the greed that came to the forefront," Mr. Stockman is quoted as saying. "The hogs were really feeding. The greed level, the level of opportunism, just got out of control."

Meanwhile impoverished mothers on welfare were made public enemies by the Administration spokesmen who talked of out-of-control social spending. But what was really out of control was the raid on the public treasury by already rich special interests.

And while the Administration was urging an arms buildup in a budget that virtually gave the Pentagon a blank check, its Budget Director was privately saying that the defense budget was "a kind of swamp of $10 to $20 to $30 billion worth of waste that can be ferreted out if you really push hard." But to this day, no one is pushing.

The real expose in the story is that the Administration's economic policy is based on deliberate falsehoods, wishful thinking, and economic theories that, rather than being new, are actually recycled versions of proven failures.

The real scandal is not that the press is publishing material never intended for publication, but that it swallowed the Administration's line during the budget battles. We got all those sage editorials about supply side economics and the Administration's theories. Now the media is left with mud on its face, for it took on face value what even the Administration's proponents never believed.

Even now the media headlines the President's "support" of extending the Voting Rights Act without adequately explaining that he backs changes in the Act that would reduce its effectiveness.

Again, the media reports the President's eloquent statements about civil rights, without informing people that its actual proposals would effectively gut civil rights enforcement.

It wasn't until the President's appointee to head the Equal Employment Opportunity Commission was on the eve of his confirmation hearings that the press finally got around to pointing up his obvious inadequacy to hold such an important post. One must wonder whether such a nominee was chosen to intentionally discredit the civil rights enforcement responsibilities of the federal government.

So the Washington revelations have opened up a credibility gap for this Administration.

PEGGY MAXIE WILL HOLD FREE LEGISLATIVE WORKSHOP DEC. 10

The third in a series of workshops on the legislative process will be held on Thursday, December 10, 1981, from 9:30 a.m., to 4:30 p.m., in Room 431, of the House Office Building in Olympia. According to Representative Peggy Joan Maxie (D-Seattle), initiator and coordinator of these workshops, the attendees will gain greater knowledge and appreciation of the legislative process. Maxie said "More than 300 people have participated in the first two successful forums and have expressed that these forums have been worthwhile and should be continued on an ongoin basis."

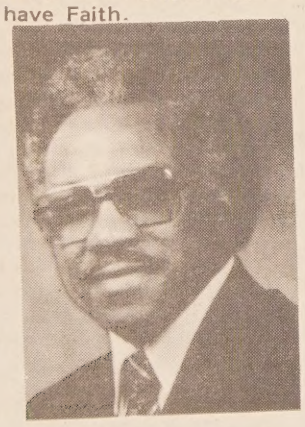
The focus of Legislative Workshop III scheduled for December 10 will be on the administration and management of the legislature. "People who have attended the first two workshops have requested this focus," Representative Maxie stated.

Legislative Workshop III is free, but because of limited space participants are required to pre-register by sending their name, address and phone number to: Office of Representative Peggy Joan Maxie, 1441 Madrona Drive, Seattle, WA. 98122, or calling 325-6088, (Seattle) 753-7988 or 753-7766 (Olympia).

Virginia Taylor's Outside Looking In

THE ATLANTA CRISIS by Caroline McNeal

It is a marvel to me that since the last part of June we have not heard any more progress in the slayings in Atlanta. I take my thoughts to many of the other crimes that are taking place. It seems small crimes are increasing and suicides are becoming common. It is a pity that such a great society has produced such a monopoly in self-afliction. We must take not of ourselves and not let our hardships make us lose ourselves. God is still with us and his justice will be alive. Patience is the Key. Praying and working together. Viewing the Washington Weekend Review and listening to the broadcasters discuss the recession and inflation, they mentioned that Reagan's plan was to reduce inflation and not cause recession. Which obviously backfired. It is the recession that has caused the reduction in inflation "not Reagan's policy". Unempolyment will be at it's highest soon because of the Federal Government layoffs that will occur in these weeks. With these facts coming into focus, wa all must open up our minds and face reality. There is no time for weakness in our families or ourselves. We need oneanother more than ever. With people in office like Reagan, it will be the strenght within us that will keep us alive. There is only one source for that strength. It is the Power we receive from God. As the Lord has spoken, "where there are two or three gathered in my name and have touched, so should I dwell". Starting now, those of us who have jobs must learn to economize and use our assets wisely. What we don't need, learn to live without. Condition ourselves. Do not become a victim of doing anything for that almighty dollar. As it is not almight, but God is. If we conserve and minimize our spending, we may find there's more than what we thought to go around and the excess we can use to help someone in a greater need than ourselves. We must gather together and help one another. This is not a time for divorce because your husband or wife lost their job, or a breaking up of children by throwing them out because they are unable to get jobs. They can't get what the beaueracy is not giving. Instead put your ideas together and form ways of helping one another. Stay together. We all must come together as a people and look to each other for help. That's where it's always been. "Between Us," those of you who will be affected by the layoffs-Thank God for this job you had and look to him for your answer to survival. Remember, pray and be ready for an answer. Look, by being aware of whats' happening around you. When the door opens for you make sure you see it and enter. When you pray to the Lord he gives you what you need, but remember, you must put forth some effort. We must work together and have Faith.



Friends of Chuck Horne will be hosting a fundraising cocktail sip at Ray Gibson Caballeros Club at 1516 South 28th Street. The proceeds will go to the post election expenses incurred during Horne's campaign.

I've seen boys on my baseball team go into slumps and never come out of them, and I've seen others snap right out and come back better than ever. I guess more players lick themselves than are ever licked by an opposing team. The first thing any man has to know is how to handle himself.

Commentary

Senator Slade Gorton's Office

'Tis the season to be giving and this year, more more than ever, Americans are being encouraged to donate their time and theri money to helping others.

In his September 24th address to the nation, President Reagan said "as a people we have a proven tradition of genorosity. I believe the spirit of volunteerism still lives in America." He called for a national effort to "find where need exists and then organize efforts to meet that need."

The average American donor currently gives about 2 percent of his or her pretax income, resulting in some $40 billion, to thousands of charities. The typical rate for corporate contributions is about 1 precent of pre-tax domestic profit.

Inflation has, however, diluted this amount and recent federal tax and budget cuts have further reduced both what the charities get and what they have to give.

In the wake of these reductions, Washingtonians have already begun to increase their efforts to bridge the impending "charity gap", with an innovative mix of private and community projects: ITEM: Residents of Chewelah raised $310,000 in 70 days to help build a new hospital. ITEM: The 78 United Way "pace-setter" firms in Washington have increased their donations this year by 15.5 percent, for a total to date of $1,068,243. ITEM: In Tacoma, local ministers and other community activists have formed Concerned Black Citizens, a committee to coordinate volunteer efforts to ease the effects of cut backs in social service program. ITEM: Three beer distributors in Wenatchee are turning their recycling efforts over to North Central Washington Supervised Skills, an action that could result in $50,000 for the agency for mentally and physically disabled adults.

These are hertening examples of private initiatives and community involvement in meeting human needs. As both local and federal governments continue to realign theri spending programs, the challenge to meet these needs, will in many cases, rest, once again, with local communities and with the individual citizen.

BLACK EMPOWERMENT

By Dr. Nathaniel Wright, Jr.
Human Rights Activist

BLACK COLLEGIATE OPPORTUNITY

One of the nation's richest treasures is its black colleges. The historic black-oriented colleges and universities have developed a remedial education tradition and record which is unexcelled, but which unfortunately has seldom been recognized or heralded.

Our historic black colleges traditionally have accepted students with the lowest entrance test scores. In four years, most of those low scoring students are brought to such a level that they can be graduated with a highly credible degree. The proof of the pudding is that black students from black colleges are twice as successful in the major or main line graduate schools as are black graduates from white-oriented colleges. Something must be awesomely right with our black colleges for such a fine record to be achieved!

Despite the incontrovertible evidence that black colleges have been the best educational instruments for black students, the federal government in the past has spent a disproportionate amount of its resources for black students with our white-oriented colleges.

Further, in all of the educational opportunity or remedial efforts in higher education, there have been practically no published records of using the black college experience as a model. Indeed, in the academic press, the question of possible black college inferiority is discussed as freely and unashamedly as was the possible mental inferiority theory which was propounded nearly a decade ago in the reputable pages of the distinguished Harvard Educational Review.

A part of the problem no doubt rests with the black colleges themselves which, like the black community as a whole, has been so heavily bombarded with spurious attacks that there is insufficient respite from defense to take time out for making hardly any new advances.

Our nation's unexcelled remedial resource in its historic black colleges needs to be harnessed for the good of the nation as a whole. This might be done in several ways at tremendous savings to our national treasury and for immense benefits to all of our local communities.

For one thing, the facilities and the expertise of our black colleges would seem to be the best or most efficient for the continued remedial or developmental training of those young adults 18 years of age and older who cannot read above the fourth grade level.

Nearly one half of all of the nation's black youth—some 44 percent of those leaving our schools each year—cannot read the simple instructions on a label or understand the message on an employer's warning sign.

While it may be emotionally soothing to blame the public schools for turning out such poor products, these young people once turned out must look beyond these schools for help. These are now young men and women who will need a secure adult environment in which to further their training or education.

Ideally also, they should receive further help in an environment in which still further or continued educational opportunity is at hand. This suggests the unmatched propriety of the resources and facilities of our black colleges.

Our black colleges would be in line for at least double rewards from serving in this way. They would be remunerated for this new remedial service. Then they would create ready recruits for their traditional entrance level classes. Beyhond this, they would be in the perpetual debt of a nation thereby preserved from the incalculable social costs from a massive adult population which is unemployable, disillusioned and highly volatile.

A second area of remedially-related service which our nation's traditionally black colleges could be harnessed for is that of an associates degree level technical and vocational education.

Surely the addition of two-year or associates degree courses would not diminish, but rather add to, the stature and the academic, social and economic relevance of our black colleges.

Our black young people and adults are largely missing out on the rapidly growing opportunities in technical and subtechnical fields for which specialized education is required. This includes those who are graduates of our four-year colleges.

Show me a man who likes his beer and I'll show you a man who knows what ales him.

Admittance is free and free coffee will be served during the Bazaar hours.

CANCER Answer line

Question: "Does cancer occur in the mouth and if so, is there a warning sign?"

ANSWERline: In 1979, an estimated 24,000 cases of oral cancer will be diagnosed in both men and women in this country. Cancer can occur anywhere in the oral cavity. Tongue, lips, salivary glands, and the pharyngeal area (the area between the mouth and the esophagus) are the common oral sites. Oral cancer is not one of the major forms of cancer in the U.S. However, it is a special risk for users of any form of tobacco and for heavy drinkers of alcohol.

Your physician or dentist should check your mouth for possible oral cancer at the time of your regular examination. In between visits, pay attention to any mouth sore that fails to heal or that bleeds rather easily. Other signs and symptoms may be a lump or thickening, a whitish patch, difficulty in chewing or swallowing food, restricted movement of the tongue or jaws, or discomfort in wearing dentures.

Oral cancer can be treated most successfully when detected early. Get into the habit of checking your mouth in a mirror, using a good light.

Back Payments Limited

It is important for people who plan to apply for Social Security benefits to do so 2 or 3 months before they want benefits to begin, or, at least as soon as possible after they become eligible, Bill Ross, Social Security district manager in Tacoma, said recently.

This is becuase payments for months before the month the application is made are limited by law. The general reuls are:

Workers, widows, widoweres 65 and over, parents 62 and over--Back payments are limited to no more than 6 months, but none before the month the person becomes 65 for worker, widows, widowers, and 62 for parents.

Workers, widows and widowers under 65--In general, no payments can be made for months before the month of application.

Disabled workers, widows, and wdiowers--Back payments can be made for up to 12 months before the month of application, but not before the 6th full month of disability.

Ross said that epople applying for benefits, especially those applying for reduced benefits--before 65 for workers and survivors--should apply as soon as possible when they become eligible so the will not miss out on any possilbe benefit checks. More information about back payments and allother parts of Social Security can be obtained at the Tacoma Social Security office, located at 1208 So. 10th street. The telephone number is 1-800-562-6350.

Etta James In Tacoma

On Thursday evening, December 10, The Etta James Band, direct from the Rolling Stones tour, will be making their first Tacoma appearance with two shows (7"30 and 9"30) at the Bicentennial Pavilion in downtown Tacoma. The show will feature cabaret style seating and a no-host bar.

Etta James is a living link between the rhythm and blues that spawned rock and roll and contemporary music. Equally at ease with ballads and rockers, Etta's repertoire of successes ranges from "Blind Girl" to "Tell Mama". In addition to Ms. James' recent mdiwest and east coast Rolling Stones dates, she has also been featured in some of the largest international festivals including Montreaux, San Paolo and the' Montery Jazz Festival. Newsweek (Oct. 27,1980) called Ms. James' version of "Changes," the title song from her latest album, "a performance that ranks with Aretha Franklin's "Together Again" as a milestone in secular spirit singing."

Tickets for The Etta James Band are $9.00 advance and $10.00 day of the show and may be pruchased at the following locations: The Bon Ticket office, Tacoma Mall; The Ft. Lewis I.T.T office; The O.I.C. office, 10th and Pacific; The Tacoma Facts office, 1019 So. 12th; the Bicentennial Pavilion, 1313 Market Street; and Musical Notes, 1310 So. "K" Street. Sponsored by Tacoma-Pierce County O.I.C. and produced by Starfish Productions.

Scriptures

Psalms
121

"I will lift up mine eyes unto the hills, from whence cometh my help. My help cometh from the Lord, which made heaven and earth. He will not suffer thy foot to be moved; he that keepeth thee will not slumber. The Lord is thy keeper; the Lord is thy shade upon thy right hand. The sun shall not smite thee by day, nor the moon by night. The Lord shall preserve thee from evil; he shall preserve thy soul. The Lord shall preserve thy going out and thy coming in from this time forth, and even for evermore.

In Loving Memory

Rev. G. Mansfield Collins, Pastor of Allen AME Church flew to Oklahoma to Eulogize Mother Goldie Taylor, He called her a "Joyful Christian".

Goldie Taylor Knight died on November 25. 1981 while on an extended vacation in Claremore. Oklahoma.

Mrs. Knight was born February 16. 1902 in Atoka. Oklahoma Territory. where she spent her formative years. Early adulthood was spent in Oklahoma City. She was the daughter of Lizzie and Melvin Lawrence. who preceeded her in death.

She married Stanford Taylor. from this union one son was born. Cutine L. Taylor. In 1929 the Taylors moved to Claremore. Oklahoma.

Mother Taylor had three grandchildren: Melva Williams of Tacoma Washington. William Taylor of San Diego. California and Cutine Taylor Jr. of Issuquak. Washington and seven great-grandchildren.

She also leaves a sister. Faith Ely of Long Beach. California. Nieces: Bessie Wright of Long Beach. California. Goldie Faith Nor wood of Carson. California. Nellie Francis Williams of Bakersfield. California and Bobbie Brown of Wichita. Kansas and many great-grand nieces and nephews.

Adopted family: Mother Eliza McCabe. Tacoma. Washington. Sisters: Stacie Beeks. Claremore. Oklahoma. Josie Jones of Los Angeles. Tee Booth and Hallie Russell of Tacoma. Washington. Carrie Jones of Oakland. California. Dixie Moore of Oklahoma City. Oklahoma and the Family of C.L. Johnson of Oakland. California.

Mother Taylor was a member of Allen A.M.E. Church in Tacoma. Washington where she served on the Stewardess' Board. She however maintained a relationship with Bethel A.M.E. Church of Claremore. Oklahoma. She was active in the Retired Senior Volunteer Program. and was one of the original Beacon Senior Center members in Tacoma. She was a charter member of the Black Women's Caucus of Washington State. She participated in the "All My Somedays" a written history of a people program sponsored by Pierce County Library in Washington.

She leaves a host of friends throughout the United States to mourn her passing away. She was a Christian and loved by many. She's gone to rest.

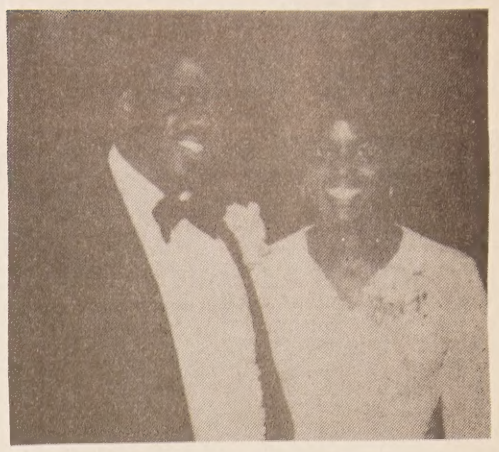
Thank You

I wish to express my deepest appreciation for the many cards, telegrams and flowers that was received following the recent death of my sister, Lorena Steen of San Antonio, Texas. My family and I are very grateful for your thoughtfulness. With Heartfelt Thanks.

Terri Cato

The Family of Goldie Taylor wishes to express sincerest gratitude to all the dear friends who expressed their condolences during our time of sorrow. Thank you all very much.

The Taylor Family



Serving The Total Community

Dr. Alfred C. Davis, Sr and First Lady Mary L. Davis celebrated their 17th church anniversary. Rev. Davis is the Founder of the Eastside Community Church.

He is also the founder of Majestic Aires RaNCH, A 155 acre ranch used by not only the members of Eastside, but other neighboring churches as well. He is founder of the Sir Alfred's Daycare center that, once again, is not limited to members of Eastside.He is a past president of the Tacoma Ministerial Alliance, Past Chairman of the Board the Tacoma Housing Authority and much more.

Mary is also a busy person in the community. She has been instrumental in comforting and encouraging many. He loving personality draws the young and old to her. Presently the Davis' are expecting or maybe have already become the proud parents of a new born baby girl or boy.

Happy Anniversary you two!

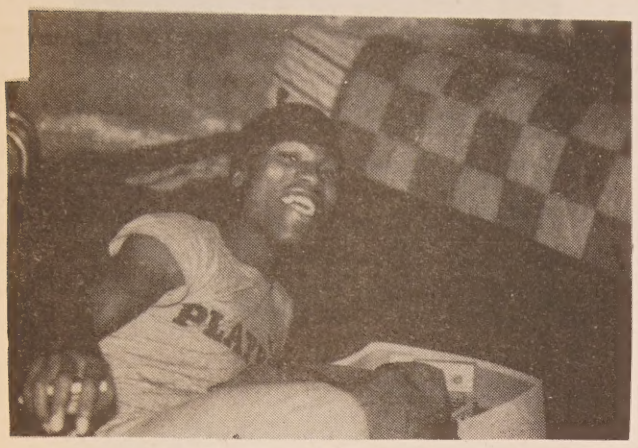
Jean Watley's Who's Who



This month birthdays are definitely in order. Earl Williams,a senior at Wilson High School is 17 years old today. Not only that, he is my son.

I say to you son, I love you and hope to see you through many more birthdays. I'm very proud of you and will always be proud no matter what because God gave you to me. Love you,

Mom

THE NATIONAL BLACK CURRENT EVENTS QUIZ

1) What strategic role, if any, do you feel that Puerto Rico might play in U.S. development and trade initiatives in the Caribbean and Latin America?

2) Among what cluster or clusters of nations is the greatest wealth concentrated? Do you know of any characteristics of these countries that may account for their financial achievements? It is noted that Japan moved from 16th place to 13th place. Do you feel that Japan exercises world influence beyond its wealth? What other issues or concerns are raised by the figures on world wealth for the ten most prosperous nations?

3) What does the lack of success on the part of Transkei suggest about South Africa's creation of "homelands" for blacks as a solution to its racial or apartheid problem?

4) Why is it important to celebrate the many diverse heritages or "roots" in our nation's life? What suggestion would you offer about this?

5) What major points about black illiteracy are raised by William L. Waters in his "A-O-I-P" letter? What can you do about this serious problem affecting all groups in America?

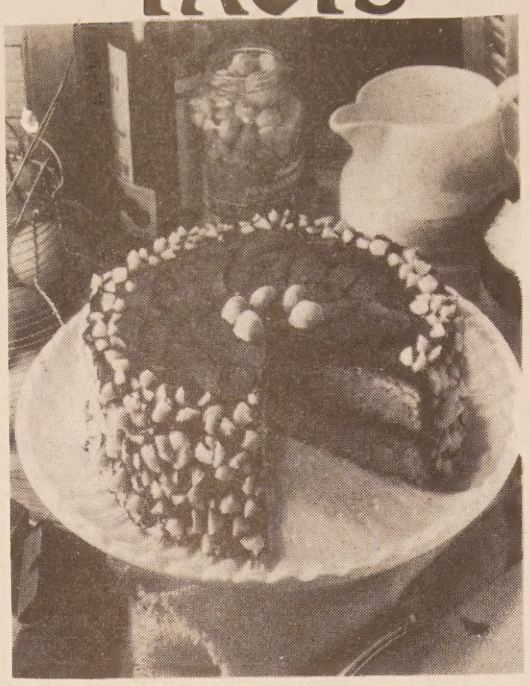
Food FACTS



MACADAMIA RUM LAYER CAKE

2-1/2 cups sifted cake flour
1 tablespoon baking powder
1/2 teaspoon salt
2/3 cup vegetable shortening
1-1/2 cups sugar, divided
1 teaspoon grated orange rind
1 teaspoon pure vanilla extract
3/4 cup milk
4 egg whites, at room temperature
2 tablespoons rum
Rich Chocolate Frosting*
2/3 cup chopped macadamia nuts (3-1/2 oz.)

Preheat oven to 375F. Mix flour with baking powder and salt. In a large bowl cream shortening. Gradually add 1-1/4 cups of the sugar, beating until fluffy. Mix in orange rind and vanilla. Gradually beat in flour mixture alternately with milk, beginning and ending with flour mixture. In a bowl beat egg whites until frothy. Gradually add remaining 1/4 cup sugar, beating until soft peaks form; fold into batter until just blended. Spoon into 2 greased and floured 8-inch cake pans. Bake until a cake tester inserted into center comes out clean, 20 to 25 minutes. Remove from pans and cool on wire racks. Poke holes in cake layers with a skewer or toothpick. Brush each layer with 1 tablespoon rum. Spread Rich Chocolate Frosting* between cake layers and on sides and top of cake. Sprinkle macadamia nuts on sides and top edge of cake.

*RICH CHOCOLATE FROSTING

1/2 cup butter or margarine, softened
5 squares (1 oz. each) semi-sweet chocolate, melted and cooled
1-1/4 cups sifted confectioners sugar
1 egg yolk

In a large bowl cream butter. Blend in chocolate. Mix in confectioners sugar; beat in egg. Beat until light and fluffy (adding 1 teaspoon rum, if frosting is too thick to spread).

YIELD: One 8-inch layer cake

PIERCE TRANSIT

NOTICE OF PUBLIC HEARING

ACCESSIBILITY POLICY

I. Notice is hereby given that public hearings will be held by Pierce Transit as a part of the Board of Commissioner meetings on December 7, 1981, and December 21, 1981. The hearings will be held in the third floor auditorium at the County-City Building, 930 Tacoma Avenue S., Tacoma, Washington, at 4:00 p.m. The purpose of the hearings is to review Pierce Transit's proposed accessibility policy with regard to wheelchair lifts on buses and the method and extent of door-to-door van service to be provided for the disabled. The hearing on December 7, 1981 will be informal with adoption and a formal hearing scheduled for December 21, 1981.

II. At the hearing, Pierce Transit will afford an opportunity for interested persons or agencies to be heard with respect to the social, environmental, and economical aspects of the policy. Interested persons may submit orally or in writing evidence and recommendations with respect to said projects.

III. A copy of the proposed accessibility policy will be available for public inspection at the Pierce Transit Headquarters Building, 1235 S. Sprague, Tacoma, Washington, after November 21, 1981.

IV. Specialized transportation and an interpreter for the deaf will be provided upon request with a minimum of 5 days notice.

Malcolms Sports Report

The lost the lead, then their quarterback. Then the game. This could only fit one team, Guess Who? Then the coach said if the quarterback didn't get hurt they could have won. Wrong!! Better luck next time JACK. The high School Hoop go Round is this Friday at U.P.S. it should be interesting. I am going to pick the Stadium Tigers to win the Narrows League. The reason why is "Big" Nathan Lewis. We will talk about him real soon. The Junior High Hoop go Round is this Saturday at Wilson starting at 10:00 a.m. I am picking the Truman Titans to win it all. I think they have the two best guards in the league, Lino Davis and Boo Brown. The High School girls Hoop is the second of Dec. Which will already be palyed by the time you read this. I am picking Lincoln to win the city. Basketball started Monday the 30th of Nov. for the 6 foot & under mens teams, the others start the 7th of Dec.. If you haven't ever seen these guys play you should. The best thing is it's "Free" and you can see some of the best talent in the state. Believe me, I know what I am talking about. I have to go now, so until next week. Drop me a line if you have any questions or answers. Malcolm 1019 South 12th Street, Tacoma, WA 98405.

BUDWEISER BAYOU CLASSIC MVPs

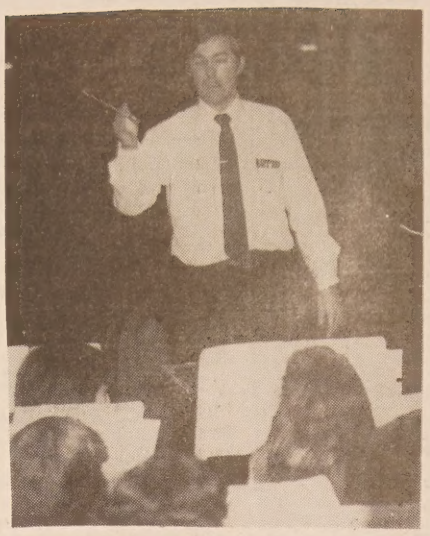
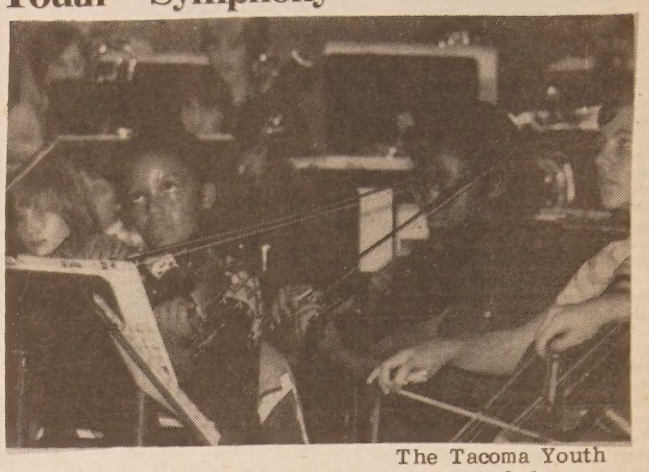
Tacoma Youth Symphony





The Tacoma Youth Symphony gave it's first performance of the year.

This year in The Symphony there are several young blacks from our area.

Daniele Price, the principal viola player, attends Jason Lee Jr. High. She has been playing for 2½ years. She is the daughter of Jewell Price of Tacoma.

Charles Alexander, also a viola player, attends Hudtloff Jr. High, in Lakewood. He has been playing for 5 years and has won honors. He was rated number one at the South Puget Sound Solo contest. He is the son of Mr. & Mrs. Charles Alexander of Lakewood.

Others featured are Avis Adams. This is Avis' second year in The Tacoma Youth Symphony. She is a violin player and has been playing for 5 years. She attends Steilacoom High School. She is the daughter of Mr. & Mrs. Jerome A. Adams of Steilacoom.

Neil Larson, a percussionist, who attends Charles Wright Academy in Olympia. Neil has been playing for a year. He has also won honors. He received a superior rating in the South West Music Contest. He is the son of R. & Mrs. Eric Larson of Olympia.

These are only a few of our young talented blacks. Let's continue to give our support to our young and talented.
